

Resident Handbook 2026

Welcome to Fedliving.

We are looking forward to making campus home for you in 2026.

There is always so much happening across our residential community, with opportunities for you to get involved, and make the most of your time living on campus!

Research has shown that students who live on residence, are more likely to be successful in their studies, and transition to University life. You've taken the first step and we are looking forward to a great year ahead.

IMPORTANT: This Residential Handbook forms part of the Fedliving Residential Agreement, in conjunction with the Licence Agreement and Federation University Student Code of Conduct.

Living in Fedliving residences indicates that you have read, understood and agreed to the rules and policies outlined in this Handbook. Breaches of these rules and policies will constitute a breach of your Residential Agreement and may result in disciplinary action.

Accounts

It is important to ensure you stay up to date with your Fedliving account. Invoices will be issued monthly and sent via email.

You can pay your account via the Fedliving Portal financials tab, BPAY or postbill pay, using the details on the bottom of your invoice. You do not have to wait for your invoice to make a payment.

TIP: To ensure you keep up to date with your payments, we recommend residents set up recurring weekly payments via your online or mobile banking app using the BPAY Biller Code and Reference on your invoice. Reach out to Fedliving if you are unsure on how to set this up.

Please contact finance.cs@federation.edu.au if you have any account queries or you are having difficulty meeting your fee instalments. You can also book an appointment on the Fedliving Portal to discuss your financial matters, difficulties you may be experiencing or payment plan requests.

If your situation is becoming difficult for whatever reason, come and speak to us. If left too late, your debts can add up and cause further concerns in the future with credit applications.

IMPORTANT Please be aware that if your account is not up to date, you may not be able to access your academic results.

Maintenance

If you notice any maintenance issues within your unit or around Res, report it straight away. We aim to address minor maintenance issues (such as blown light bulbs) as quickly as possible. Larger issues sometimes take time, so the quicker you let us know about them the faster we can get them taken care of. Don't assume someone else has done it, it won't matter if it is reported more than once.

Emergency maintenance

Emergency maintenance includes anything that may be a safety risk, may cause a safety risk, or is just important. Examples are essential services like power, water and heating, plumbing issues such as storm damage or flooding from burst water pipes, broken windows, smelling gas or smoke etc. For all essential items like these, contact the Fedliving office, or after hours support immediately.

Ballarat residents: If you have a swipe card reader on your door, please keep an eye out for red flashing lights. This indicates that the battery is low. Please log an urgent maintenance request via the Fedliving portal for this and enter a comment that the red light is flashing. If you ignore this there will come a time that you cannot access your room.

Regular maintenance

From a new light globe to a leaking shower head, most residents will need to log a maintenance request at some stage. In most cases this involves the completion of the online maintenance request through the Fedliving portal. If the issue is in a common area, such as the kitchen or bathroom, you will not be able to select this location in your maintenance request, please put the location details in the description.

Follow these steps to log your maintenance:

- Log in to the Fedliving Portal
- Click on the 'Maintenance' tab
- Fill out all relevant details on the form. Please provide as much information as possible, including your email address and phone number.
- Click on 'Submit Your Request' when you have completed the report.

You will be able to see any status updates for your request in this tab.

By completing a maintenance request a resident is agreeing to maintenance and/or operations staff to enter their unit/room to follow up the request. If a resident's room/unit must be entered by contractors or staff, they should be wearing identification in the form of a university staff or contractor badge. Residents should ask contractors or staff to produce identification before they enter the room if none are displayed. If staff or contractors are unable to produce identification, residents may refuse to let them enter.

Change of Licence Agreement

If you need to apply for a change of room or termination of your contract, you will need to submit a Change of Licence agreement request in the Fedliving Portal. Costs may apply.

Change of room requests and circumstances are evaluated on an individual basis.

Please ensure you have read and understood the Licence Agreement as it is a legally binding document which sets out your rights and obligations as a resident. If you do not understand any part of this document, you should seek independent advice.

TIP: Bookmark the portal in your browser to easily and quickly access throughout the year.

Living in a residential community

So, what's it really like to live in a residential community.

Moving away from home to University is a significant time of transition and change, remember that most of your fellow students will be in a similar position and living on res will give you access to the support and advice you need to make the transition as smooth and stress free as possible.

Accessing units and rooms

University staff, authorised by Fedliving, may enter units and/or rooms for the purpose of inspection, repair, alterations, maintenance, removal of furniture and cleaning at reasonable times. Every effort will be made to respect and protect the privacy of residents. In the event of a resident's room needing to be entered there will usually be two staff present (except for studio and ensuite cleaning). Staff will knock loudly on the door to ascertain whether the room is occupied.

For security, all staff authorised by Fedliving will lock bedroom doors on departure regardless of whether the door was locked or unlocked.

Cleanliness on res

The house attendants will come through your units regularly to service kitchens and common areas but ultimately, it's up to the residents to keep these areas tidy on a day-to-day basis. If the house attendants deem the area to be excessively dirty or untidy, they may be unable to clean the space until residents have tidied up themselves.

Throughout the year residents are responsible for keeping their room in a hygienic, reasonable clean condition. Vacuum cleaners are available in all units to vacuum your room regularly.

Cooking

Due to health and safety issues, residents are not permitted to cook in their rooms. This applies to toasters, kettles, rice cookers, air fryers and all other cooking appliances. Fedliving provides an extensive range of appliances and utensils for the purpose of preparing and cooking meals within the unit kitchens so please use these.

If you're in a studio apartment, your kitchenette facilities in your room are to be used for that purpose.

Damage and mess

Costs for replacement or repairs resulting from damage caused through wilful or careless activities will be charged to the account of the individual(s) responsible. If a guest has caused the damage, the charges will be added to the account of the resident responsible for the guest.

Treat res like your home. Don't climb in and out of windows. If you leave your doors ajar or tamper with your locks, you may end up having expensive things damaged or stolen.

Be mindful of hanging hooks, stickers or other items which caused damage to the walls and paintwork. Use only 3M command removable hooks.

Drugs/illegal substances

Drugs/illegal substances are not to be used anywhere on University premises. If anyone is caught using these or having these in their possession the matter will be referred to Victoria Police. In addition, disciplinary action will also be taken by Fedliving and this typically results in immediate eviction. If you suspect drug use on residence, please contact Fedliving or afterhours support immediately.

If you or a friend needs support with drug use, please reach out to Residential Wellbeing or the Campus Nurse for a chat and we will be able to provide assistance and information or make referrals to specialist drug and alcohol workers if needed.

Electrical equipment

Any electrical equipment supplied by Fedliving that is faulty or damaged must be reported to the office immediately. Faulty items will be replaced or repaired as soon as possible.

Personal electrical items brought into residence should be tagged and tested to meet the Victorian Electrical Standards as soon as possible after moving onto Res.

Vacating your room

When vacating your room, please keep the following points in mind.

- Ensure windows and doors are locked, and all lights turned off
- Any posters and blutac/tape are to be removed from walls and surfaces
- Food cupboards are to be completely cleaned out and left unlocked
- Fridges and freezers in common areas to be cleared of all food
- Your room must be vacuumed and left clean & tidy
- All belongings should be removed and/or disposed

Please ensure all Fedliving property remains in the room or replacement costs may be incurred.

Important: In the event rooms are left in an untidy state upon check-out, additional cleaning and disposal charges may apply.

Fridges and food lockers

There is a shared fridge in the kitchen of each unit. Please label your food where possible. Keep in mind this is a shared facility and ensure that you remove old food and clean up spills etc. Personal bar fridges are allowed in residents' rooms but must ideally be less than 5 years old and must be placed on a carpet mat to avoid carpet staining. Please note that these should also be tagged and tested.

Insurance

As you make the transition from home to Uni, and beyond, you will need to take responsibility for your belongings. Fedliving does not assume liability for loss or damage to personal property by fire, theft, water damage or any other means except to the extent of the law. Insurance of your personal items is strongly recommended. It is important to report any theft or damage that may have taken place in your room to Fedliving and report it to the police immediately.

IMPORTANT Where damage has occurred in a unit, and no individual takes responsibility, the cost of repairs will be charged across each resident in that unit.

Mattresses

All mattresses must be covered by a mattress protector and fitted sheet at all times. A mattress protector is supplied in rooms upon arrival, and is yours to keep, so please wash it regularly.

Please note: failure to use a mattress protector and fitted sheet can damage the mattress and result in additional charges for the cost of a replacement mattress upon check out.

Make your space your own

Your residence room is your sanctuary on campus, and the way you organise and personalise it can greatly influence your comfort and productivity. Here are some tips to help you transform and make the space truly your own.

Personalise with meaningful décor:

- Bring a piece of home: Personal items like photos, a favourite blanket, or decorations can make your room feel cozy and remind you of home.
- Express yourself: Whether it is through posters, plants, or art, adding elements that reflect your personality can make your space yours. Please use only blutak or removable 3m command hooks on walls.

Organise for a productive environment:

- Maximise storage: Use organisers for your desk and under-bed storage containers to make sure all items in your room have a place.
- Keep it tidy: Regularly tidying your room can reduce stress and help you stay organised with your studies.
- Safety: Keep clutter to a minimum and items in designated spots so that trips and falls do not occur.

Maintaining cleanliness and safety:

- Follow residence guidelines: For example, candles and incense are not allowed due to it being a fire risk.
- Keep your room and bathroom clean:
 - Clean up food and garbage to avoid pests, wipe down benches and any spills you may have made.
 - Vacuum your room and wash bedding regularly.
 - Keep your bathroom, toilet and shower clean.
 - Only use sanitary bins for female products.

- Keep shared spaces cleaned:

- Completing dishes as soon as possible (wash and put away).
- Wipe down the oven/stove top/microwave from any spills and splatters that have occurred while cooking.
- Your mess is your responsibility – please do not rely on Fedliving Cleaners as they are not responsible for your mess.
- Create a roster to empty bins weekly or as soon as they are full.

- Food Safety

- Do not leave food out on benches.
- Remove food that has gone out of date and dispose of correctly (e.g. in bin provided).
- Keep storage areas clean, dry and free of pests.
- Use food-safe containers, covers and packaging to protect food.
- Store potentially hazardous food at 5°C or colder.
- Store raw food like meat and seafood separately or below ready-to-eat foods to avoid contamination from meat juices etc.
- Make sure frozen food stays frozen hard.
- Check that food packaging is undamaged.
- Do not store food in warm or humid areas or in direct sunlight as this can cause it to spoil or make it unsafe.
- Store food, containers and packaging off the ground and away from chemicals like cleaners and insect sprays.

It is essential to regularly check food for signs of spoilage. Any food item found to be out of date, visibly off, or showing signs of mould must be immediately disposed of. This includes food that smells sour, has an unusual texture, or is past its 'Use By' date. Items identified as unsafe or a potential health risk, particularly those that are significantly past their date or visibly compromised, may be removed and discarded by designated Fedliving staff without prior notice to prevent foodborne illness and maintain sanitary conditions.

By making small adjustments and adding personal touches, your space can feel like a true sanctuary and help you thrive during your time at university. Enjoy making it your own.

Building a community

Living in residence is a unique opportunity to form friendships, build a support network, and create lasting memories. Building a positive and inclusive community can make your time in residence enjoyable and fulfilling. Here's how you can connect with others and contribute to a harmonious living environment:

Be open and friendly:

- Introduce yourself: When you first meet your housemates, take a moment to introduce yourself and learn about each other's backgrounds and interests. A friendly introduction can go a long way in setting a positive tone.

Communicate Respectfully:

- Be direct but kind: If you have concerns or need to discuss something with a housemate, be open and honest while remaining respectful. Clear communication can help prevent misunderstandings.
- Be Empathetic: Try to see things from their perspective. This will help you better understand their actions and feelings.
- Listen actively: Give others a chance to share their thoughts and perspectives. Listening attentively shows respect and can help you understand different viewpoints.
- Use "I" statements: When expressing your feelings, try framing your concerns in terms of how they impact you. For example, "I find it hard to sleep when there's noise late at night" or "I feel frustrated when the kitchen is not clean", rather than placing blame, which can help reduce defensiveness.

Set and respect boundaries:

- Establish shared expectations: Early on, have a conversation with your housemates about boundaries, such as quiet hours, cleaning schedules, and guest policies. Setting these expectations together can help avoid future conflicts.
- Respect privacy and personal space: Everyone needs time alone. Respect your housemates' personal space and privacy.
- Be mindful of shared items: If you are sharing items like kitchen supplies make sure you clean them as soon as possible after using them. If in doubt that it is a shared item, ask others within the unit to make sure you are not using other people's belongings.

Handle conflicts constructively:

- Address issues early: If something is bothering you, try to address it calmly before it escalates. Small annoyances can often be resolved through a polite conversation.
- Seek compromise: In shared living situations, it is important to find common ground. Be willing to compromise and find solutions that work for everyone.
- Get help if needed: If conflicts become difficult to manage do not hesitate to reach out to a Residential Advisor (RA) or the Residential Wellbeing team for guidance.

Contribute to a positive environment:

- Be inclusive: Respect diversity and be mindful of different backgrounds, cultures, and beliefs. Inclusivity helps everyone feel welcomed and valued.
- Offer help and encouragement: University life can be challenging, so check in with your housemates and offer support when needed. Even small gestures, like inviting someone to join you for a meal or study session, can make a big difference.
- Be considerate of shared spaces: Keeping shared areas clean and tidy, such as kitchens and bathrooms, shows respect for everyone and makes the residence a better place for all.

Prioritise your mental health

University life is exciting, but balancing studies, social life and personal commitments can be challenging. Taking care of your physical and mental health is essential for a successful and enjoyable university experience. Federation University offers various resources to support your wellbeing, and here are some tips and services available to help you stay healthy and happy on campus:

- Counselling services: Federation University provides free and confidential counselling to support students through challenges, whether academic, personal, or emotional. Do not hesitate to reach out; speaking with a counsellor can be a helpful way to manage stress, anxiety, or homesickness.
- Immediate Response Mental Health Support: Students can access urgent mental health support via the Federation University Crisis Line. Phone: 1300 758 109 or text 0480 089 177 with your name and phone number to request a call back.
- Mindfulness and relaxation: Consider practicing mindfulness techniques such as meditation, deep breathing, yoga, getting outside in nature or book a session for the VR relaxation with the Campus Nurse. These can reduce stress and improve focus.
- Self-care practices: Set aside time each day for self-care activities, whether that's reading, journaling, exercising, or simply taking a break to relax. Creating a balanced routine can help you manage stress more effectively. Other ways to reduce stress and engage in self-care activities may include:
 - Walking
 - Playing a game with a friend
 - Running
 - Riding
 - Reading a book
 - Listening to music
 - Drawing/sketching
 - Organising your time each week – time management.
 - Join a group, club or society.
 - Start an interest group (Speak with Residential Wellbeing Staff).

Noise

One of the most annoying things to block out when you are trying to study, or sleep is noise! What is regarded as excessive or unreasonable will vary from one person to another.

If someone needs to ask you to keep the noise down, it's too loud.

After 10.30pm, it is expected that noise will be reduced to a minimum to ensure that those students who wish to sleep or study can do so without disturbance. If people are being loud and you need quiet, ask people politely first, and they will normally help out. Suggest they go outside or go to another area. The residential student common spaces are a great option to gather and socialise.

You can call security to come and assist with the situation if required. If this behaviour persists, speak to Fedliving, your RA or Residential Wellbeing for advice and assistance.

Responsible Alcohol Use

We aim to promote a well-balanced living-learning environment in Residences. This includes the provision of a healthy social environment as well. We strongly advocate that alcohol is consumed in a responsible manner by all residents.

The consumption of alcohol in all Residences must always comply with the Victorian State Liquor Licensing Laws, and with University Policies on Alcohol and Other Drugs.

Responsible drinking means more than just limiting yourself to a certain number of drinks. It also means not getting drunk and not letting alcohol control your life or your relationships.

It's very important to understand that res is first and foremost a place of study and we have rules on res around alcohol, in order to protect the safety of all residents.

Over the course of the year, you will likely attend a few events where alcohol will be available. Please keep the following points in mind.

- Not everyone drinks or needs to have a drink to fit in, so don't pressure others.
- Drinking games are not to be a part of res at any time.
- Never drink and drive. Have a designated driver or uber/taxi if intending to drink. Check out the website yourbac.com.au, it's a very helpful method of determining what your blood alcohol limit may be, particularly for the next day before you drive.
- Make sure you have a snack or meal before you drink, and while you are drinking. Don't drink on an empty stomach. Stay hydrated and nourished.

- Alternate alcohol drinks with water.
- Get the facts about drinking and responsible alcohol use at drinkwise.org.au
- Know your limits
- Avoid mixing substances

IMPORTANT: alcohol on university grounds is not permitted by University policy. Taking alcohol to buses or other areas of the University outside residence is not permitted and can result in disciplinary action through your Licence Agreement as well as the University's disciplinary process and statutes.

Security – personal and unit

To ensure all residents' safety please keep windows and doors closed when you are out.

Please don't tamper with locks or keep unit and/or room doors open. This compromises all residents' personal safety and unit security. To ensure a safe and supportive environment for all, we encourage residents to be proactive with security and safety. Please report any faulty alarms, doors or locks immediately.

Entrance and Emergency Exit doors

All building entrance and emergency exit doors must be securely closed at all times. The practice of propping doors open with rocks or any other objects is strictly prohibited, as it compromises the safety and security of all residents within the building.

Security Escort Service: If you are studying late or feel uncomfortable walking across campus alone, use the security escort service. A campus security officer can accompany you to your residence or another campus location to ensure you arrive safely.

See something, say something: If you notice anything unusual or suspicious – such as someone loitering, tampering with property, or behaving aggressively – report to campus security immediately. Your report can help to maintain a safe community for everyone.

Save Key Numbers: Keep contact information for campus security, and local emergency services handy.

Caring for your belongings

While on Res, you are responsible for your belongings, including your room. To prevent people

'borrowing' your food, label it and lock it! When not in your room, keep it locked and close the windows.

Smoking and vaping

Smoking and vaping is only permitted in designated outside smoking areas as listed below. No smoking or vaping is permitted within any University buildings or facilities at any time.

Please only smoke/vape in the areas provided. Smoking or vaping within residential buildings, units and rooms is not permitted at any time. You are liable for any costs incurred or damage caused by your smoking or vaping.

Sustainability, Recycling and Waste

Fedliving strives to be a sustainable community. We encourage our residents to get involved in a range of sustainability activities or even champion initiatives of your own in your units, or across the residences.

Small changes can make a big difference.

- Limit your use of single-use and disposable products and choose alternatives which can be used again. Think about a reusable coffee cup or refilling your drink bottle.
- Opt for products with minimal packaging where possible. Buy your apples loose instead of packaged in a plastic bag.
- Keep reusable shopping bags handy so you remember to take them with you.

Please only smoke/vape in the areas provided. Smoking or vaping within residential buildings, units and rooms is not permitted at any time. You are liable for any costs incurred or damage caused by your smoking or vaping.

- Recycle your waste where possible. You will notice bins with yellow lids around residences. What can be recycled in these bins will vary by campus and local council regulations.
- Composting. Around half of our household garbage is made up of food and garden waste. Composting instead of putting this waste in your rubbish bin stops it from going to landfill and creates a useful product instead.
- Conserve our resources. Take a shorter shower. Turn off the lights. Notice a leaking tap, log a maintenance request.
- Container deposit scheme. This scheme rewards Victorians with a 10-cent refund for every eligible can, carton and bottle they return. Visit cdsvic.org.au for further details and nearest refund point.
You will find a number of blue lidded bins available across the Mt Helen campus to donate your containers in support of McCallum group, a not-for-profit providing disability support services in Western Victoria.

Each unit/block/residence is responsible for any litter that may be visible around their area and will be asked to collect it if necessary.

There are numerous bins available around the residences for both general rubbish (red lid) and recycling (yellow lid). Please don't mix general rubbish and recyclable waste because the recycling is rejected if there is general rubbish in it. General rubbish bins are for kitchen and bathroom waste, recycling bins are for items such as cardboard, plastics and glass. Please flatten cardboard boxes before placing in the bins.

Find out more in the Sustainability at Fedliving Resident Handbook available online at bit.ly/Fedliving-Resident-Sustainability.

Visitors and guests

If a guest arrives at the Fedliving office looking for you, the office staff will not provide contact details, but may call you and request that you come and meet your guest. You are responsible for the conduct and actions of your guest at all times. If they damage something or break the rules, you will bear the cost and penalty.

All visitors are expected to respect Fedliving residents by avoiding excessive noise and not interfere with their access to common spaces and facilities.

Day visitors

Please consider your fellow residents and available unit common spaces when hosting visitors. If you are expecting multiple day visitors, please utilise the common spaces, such as the LLC, West Rec Hall or the Pavilion where possible.

Overnight guests

For reasons of safety and security, it is important to know when you are planning to have an occasional visitor staying. Please submit a guest pass request through the Fedliving portal. If you can't provide a valid ID or guest pass, security staff may ask your guest to leave residence. Please remember that your guest is your responsibility and must always remain with you.

Guests are not permitted to stay in the residence in your absence, or during periods of SWOT VAC or exams.

Guests must sleep in your room and not in common areas. Guests are permitted to stay for a maximum of one (1) night and they must not stay on a regular basis.

Please note, there is a maximum of ten (10) guest passes per resident per year. Speak to the Fedliving office to discuss short term accommodation options for regular visits from friends or family.

Getting involved

Get the most out of your year by staying up to date with what's happening in your residential community!

Throughout the year, you will have a range of opportunities to get involved in. Make the most of your residential experience and say YES to all the opportunities coming your way! Social events, sporting competitions, unit activities, trips, competitions and development opportunities.

Email

Keep an eye on your inbox. You will get regular notifications from the Fedliving team which may include packages to collect from the office, or important updates to your accommodation, maintenance requirements, or a range of other alerts.

You will also receive regular residential news emails with information on what's happening, photos from events, registrations for upcoming events and a range of other articles. Contributions from residents are welcome and encouraged.
