1: Introduction

This Report has been produced by the Department of Education and Training for training providers, and summarises vocational education and training (VET) needs for the Grampians region.

This year's Report is a little different to previous Jobs and Training Needs Reports, in recognition of the ongoing and significant impacts that COVID-19 has had on the Victorian economy. There remains a great deal of uncertainty about the path of economic recovery, as the public health situation and restrictions continue to evolve.

This year's Report focuses on some of the broader context, challenges and trends that training providers should consider, in addition to the usual factors, when thinking about future training needs for specific occupations in the Grampians region.

As always, this Report should be considered in conjunction with the Funded Course List for 2021, which lists courses available for government subsidy and targets those courses that will yield the most value to the Victorian economy and community. The Funded Course List 2021 will assist training providers to align their proposed delivery in 2021 with government objectives for the Victorian TAFE and training system.

The Department invites feedback on the usefulness of the data presented in the Jobs and Training Needs Reports through the following link: <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/JTNR2021>. Any comments received will be used to help improve the Jobs and Training Needs Reports in future years.

The Grampians region refers to the following Local Government Areas:

- Ararat
- Ballarat
- Golden Plains
- Hepburn
- Hindmarsh
- Horsham
- Moorabool
- Northern Grampians
- Pyrenees
- West Wimmera
- Yarriambiack

HOW TO USE THIS REPORT

Section 2: Overview of the labour market and training activity provides contextual training market and employment information about the Grampians region.

Section 3: Industry view provides a snapshot of the employment outlook and recovery trajectories for industries within the Grampians region.

Section 4: Occupations in demand and related skills shows courses that contribute to the training and skill requirements of different occupations, particularly those linked to government objectives.

Section 5: Courses for community and industry need shows courses that do not correspond to occupations such as foundation skill courses and courses that contribute to industry (but not specific occupations). While these courses are not directly linked to an occupation, they are nonetheless important because they support engagement and pathways.

2: Overview of the labour market and training activity

THE LABOUR MARKET AND COVID-19

This year to date has seen almost unprecedented disruption to the Victorian labour market, driven by COVID-19. 134,600 jobs have been lost in Victoria since the beginning of March 2020 (Figure 1). March was a milestone month, when Australia reached 100 COVID-19 cases and a global pandemic was declared by the World Health Organisation. Job gains in June and July this year have not been sufficient to overcome the significant losses in April and May.

Fig. 1 Number of people employed in Victoria (000's, seasonally adjusted)

Source: Australian Bureau of Statistics.

Unemployment in Victoria climbed to 6.8 per cent in July 2020, its highest level since the recession of the early 90's (Figure 2). The further 85,800 individuals across Victoria who stopped searching for a job since February 2020 are not included in the unemployment figures. Of those who are currently employed, 13.9 per cent said that they would like to work more hours (underemployed).

Fig. 2 Victorian unemployment (% , seasonally adjusted)

Source: Australian Bureau of Statistics; Reserve Bank of Australia.

High levels of underemployment are likely to make searching for a job and returning to work that much more difficult for unemployed individuals – as businesses are more likely to increase the hours worked by existing employees as the economy recovers, rather than advertising roles and hiring new workers. This, more than ever, underscores the importance of engaging in training, so that students are able to maintain and further develop their skills, and improve their attractiveness to potential employers.

IMPACTS OF COVID-19 BY COHORT

Women and young people have been disproportionately affected by job losses in recent months (Figure 3). This is largely because women and young people were more likely to be employed in the industries that were hardest hit by COVID-19 (such as Accommodation and Food Services, or Arts and Recreation), and more likely to have been employed on a part-time or casual basis.

Fig. 3 Change in number of people employed in Victoria, by age group and gender (February versus July 2020)

Source: Australian Bureau of Statistics.

Unemployment, particularly for young people who are entering the labour market for the first time, can lead to long-term scarring effects, including persistently lower earnings and lower self-reported life satisfaction. History shows that youth unemployment is often the slowest to recover to normal levels – as young people are less likely to have built employer- or industry-specific knowledge, general work skills and connections – making them less attractive hires.

For unemployed young people and women, continued engagement in training may help mitigate these scarring effects. Training will help individuals continue to develop and deepen skills that will make them more employable, when businesses begin to hire again. Training will also increase the productive potential of the broader economy, which will help facilitate Victoria's economic recovery.

ADVERTISING EMPLOYERS AND JOBS IN THE GRAMPPIANS

There are some signs that the labour market is beginning to stabilise in the Grampians, with the number of job ads continuing to improve from their lowest point, in April, and the number of Victorians receiving JobSeeker decreasing (Figure 4).

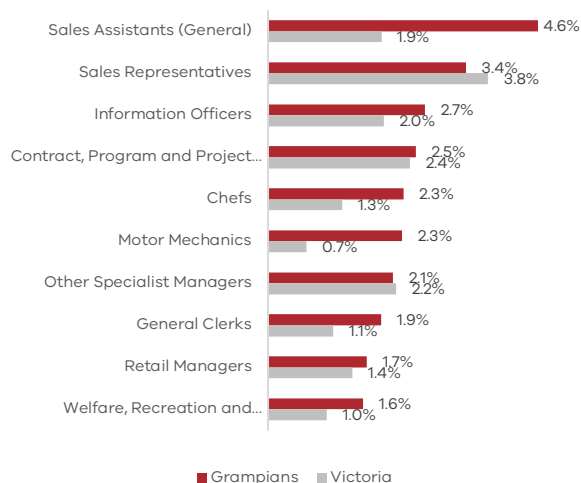

Figure 5 includes occupations supplied by VET graduates that were most commonly advertised within the Grampians over the 12 months to June 2020. Each occupation's share of total advertised job vacancies in Victoria is included for context. Note that some of these occupations are supplied by both VET and higher education graduates, for example, Accountants.

The following companies and organisations have recorded the largest number of job postings in the Grampians region in the 12 months ending June 2020 (ordered alphabetically). The data is based on internet vacancies only and, as a result, may not reflect all job openings over the period or which organisations are the largest overall employers. For example, there may be large employers who have not advertised significant numbers of jobs over the last period, because they have low staff turnover. Apprentices are often employed by small businesses and thus their employers are unlikely to be represented below. It should be noted that the top advertising employers may recruit for a range of roles with different qualification requirements.

REGIONAL TRAINING DELIVERY

Table 2 lists courses with the highest number of government-funded commencements in the Grampians region in 2019 along with comparative figures for 2018 and 2017. Training providers should consider the employment requirements of the region in proposing their Program Delivery Plans.

Notes:

Only courses included on the Funded Course List 2021 are listed. Commencement data includes commencements in superseded courses.

Throughout 2018 six course caps were in place to account for significant supply to the labour market from previous years. These caps were lifted in 2019 and reflect normal settings for these courses. The following courses were capped throughout 2018: Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care, Diploma of Early Childhood Education and Care, Diploma of Screen and Media, Certificate III in Health Services Assistance, Certificate IV in Competitive Systems and Practices and Certificate III in Civil Construction Plant Operations.

3: Industry view

Almost all industries have been affected by job losses over the last few months, particularly those that rely on physical proximity – and were therefore most affected by restrictions and social distancing measures between February and May 2020 (Figure 9). Even industries with large public sector workforces (such as public administration and safety, and health care and social assistance) have not been immune to job losses. Further, this data does not fully capture the impact of COVID-19 and the second wave of cases and restrictions, and represents activity across regional Victoria as a whole, rather than the specific region.

Fig. 9 Change in number of people employed in Victoria, by industry (% , February versus May 2020)

REGIONAL INDUSTRY RECOVERY PATHS

In looking forward to the economic recovery from COVID-19, different industries within the Grampians region are likely to recover at different speeds, depending on their reliance on key recovery drivers.

Table 3 Grampians industry recovery paths

	Grampians industries	Grampians employment (2019) and training (top 3 courses in 2019)	Commentary
Less affected / More resilient 	Mining	1,100 workers There was no training activity in the Grampians in qualifications related to this industry in 2019.	This is a small sector in the Grampians and is likely to be insulated from the impact of COVID-19. Existing gold mining businesses in the Stawell area will continue to operate though the regional Victoria Stage-3 restrictions.
Sectors that have been relatively less affected or more resilient	Public Administration and Safety	5,150 workers Certificate III in Correctional Practice Diploma of Community Services Certificate IV in Disability	Employment in public administration and safety is stable and largely unaffected by COVID-19, with employment clusters in correctional services and bushfire recovery managements.
Bounce back 	Administrative and Support Services	2,000 workers Certificate II in Cleaning Certificate III in Horticulture Certificate II in Horticulture	Travel agency and tour arrangement services have been significantly affected by travel restrictions and are likely to recover slowly. However, other parts of the sector such as building cleaning, pest control, and packaging are less impacted and are likely to recover faster once restrictions are lifted.

	Grampians industries	Grampians employment (2019) and training (top 3 courses in 2019)	Commentary
Sectors likely to recover quickly once restrictions are relaxed	Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing	10,050 workers	Agriculture is a significant employer in the Grampians. Production of lamb, wool, wheat and flour is a major export for the region and this will be negatively impacted by the weak global demand. Producers may be able to pivot to domestic markets, and federal government measures (e.g. freight support) will support recovery.
		Certificate II in Agriculture
		Certificate III in Agriculture
		Certificate II in Forest Growing and Management
	Construction	6,700 workers	There are a number of major government infrastructure investment projects in the region, including the East Grampians Rural Pipeline, Hopkins Correctional Centre Expansion, Western Highway Duplication Works and Grampians Peaks Trail. Although some of the projects are temporarily suspended due to COVID-19, they will continue to provide employment opportunities once the restrictions are lifted. Job growth in these areas however may be offset by weaker demand for commercial and residential construction in the near-term.
		Certificate III in Civil Construction
		Certificate II in Construction Pathways
		Certificate II in Civil Construction
	Education and Training	8,250 workers	Kindergartens, schools, training providers and universities have been temporarily affected by restrictions, but not all have been able to transition partially or fully to remote learning. Employment should recover relatively quickly as activity is strongly linked to population size, and as those out-of-work look to re-skill to support recovery.
		Certificate IV in Training and Assessment
		Certificate III in Education Support
		Certificate IV in Education Support
	Electricity, Gas, Water and Waste Services	800 workers	Demand for utilities, and therefore employment in the sector, remain largely fixed. Restrictions on the manufacturing sector are expected to lower the demand somewhat for utilities, however this will likely be countered by an increase in household consumption as individuals work from home.
		There was no training activity in the Grampians in qualifications related to this industry in 2019.
	Financial and Insurance Services	1,100 workers	Employment in this sector is likely to recover in line with the broader economy and as consumer and business confidence returns.
		There was no training activity in the Grampians in qualifications related to this industry in 2019.
	Health Care and Social Assistance	17,750 workers	While additional resources and staff are required in aged care facilities and hospitals to stop the spread of COVID-19, childcare services are being impacted by social distancing policies and parents keeping their children at home. Employment in this sector is likely to recover quickly, as activity is strongly linked to population growth, demographics and government priorities (mental health, aged care, family violence).
		Certificate III in Individual Support
		Diploma of Nursing
		Certificate IV in Disability
	Information Media and Telecommunications	1,300 workers	Regional media companies are facing dropping advertising revenues and suspending print titles, closing presses and reducing their employment. Television and film production have also been halted due to social distancing restrictions. However, online media and internet service providers are likely to benefit.
		Certificate II in Electrotechnology (Career Start)
		Certificate II in Visual Arts
		Certificate IV in Professional Writing and Editing

Grampians industries	Grampians employment (2019) and training (top 3 courses in 2019)	Commentary
Manufacturing	7,750 workers Certificate II in Engineering Studies Certificate III in Food Processing Certificate III in Engineering - Fabrication Trade	Manufacturing is one of the largest industry sectors (by value) in the Grampians region. Food, chemical, and metal product manufacturing production is growing. However, parts of manufacturing have been impacted by a restricted global supply chain impacting the availability of inputs, and weaker global demand, and meat processing will be impacted by recently announced restrictions. There may also be a pivot towards greater reliance on local (rather than international) supply chains that creates employment over time.
Other Services	4,300 workers Certificate II in Engineering Studies Certificate II in Salon Assistant Certificate II in Automotive Vocational Preparation	Demand for these services (particularly personal care) has fallen in the wake of Stage 3 restrictions as they rely on physical proximity. However, employment is likely to bounce back relatively quickly as restrictions ease.
Professional, Scientific and Technical Services	4,850 workers Certificate IV in Photography and Photo Imaging Advanced Diploma of Building Design (Architectural) Certificate III in Animal Studies	Fewer professional and legal services are required as businesses seek to lower discretionary costs to preserve cash. However, architectural and engineering firms may benefit from continued investment from government on major infrastructure projects.
Retail Trade	10,400 workers Certificate III in Retail Certificate II in Electrotechnology (Career Start) Certificate II in Timber Merchandising	Stage 3 restrictions for the Grampians region, weak consumer confidence, and lower tourism numbers all are significantly impacting on employment. While some buyers are moving to online shopping, the recovery of retail will depend on how quickly household incomes and the economy more broadly recovers.
Transport, Postal and Warehousing	3,100 workers Certificate III in Civil Construction Plant Operations Certificate II in Warehousing Operations Certificate III in Driving Operations	Transport and warehousing in the Grampians region play an important role in moving agricultural products to market and for export. While the sector itself is considered essential, lower global demand for products may impact on employment in the sector.
Wholesale Trade	1,900 workers Certificate II in Meat Processing (Food Services) Certificate III in Rural Operations Certificate II in Meat Processing (Abattoirs)	Parts of this industry may be negatively affected by the reduced production of inputs from other countries, and weak foreign demand may also affect agricultural wholesaling. Recent restrictions on meat processing activity may also reduce output and therefore wholesaling. However, employment in the sector is likely to recover quickly as both local and international demand returns to normal.

	Grampians industries	Grampians employment (2019) and training (top 3 courses in 2019)	Commentary
Delayed recovery  Sectors likely to recover slowly	Accommodation and Food Services	7,800 workers Certificate II in Kitchen Operations Certificate III in Hospitality Certificate III in Commercial Cookery	Employment in this industry is highly dependent on tourism and visitor spending, particularly in Hepburn, Daylesford, Ballarat, and the area surrounding Grampians National Park. This industry is likely to be slow to recover, with domestic and international travel restrictions in place.
	Arts and Recreation Services	2,350 workers Certificate III in Racing (Advanced Stablehand) Certificate III in Visual Arts Certificate III in Conservation and Land Management	Due to social distancing many facilities, including bathhouses and days spas at Hepburn Springs, cinemas, arts centres, theatres, sporting venues have closed and will likely remain closed for some time. As this industry is similarly highly reliant on tourism and visitor spending, there is likely to be low employment growth and demand.
	Rental, Hiring and Real Estate Services	950 workers Certificate IV in Property Services (Real Estate)	Population growth will slow due to lower levels of interstate and overseas migration to Victoria, and this may reduce demand for real estate services. Weaker tourism numbers will reduce demand for motor vehicle hire, and equipment hire will depend on any impact of weaker global demand for the region's agricultural output.

4: Occupations in demand and skills required for Victoria

The majority of occupations have experienced declines in employment since February 2020, with those reliant on physical proximity – such as Hospitality Workers, and Sales Assistants and Salespersons who likely work in accommodation, food services and bricks and mortar retail – most affected.

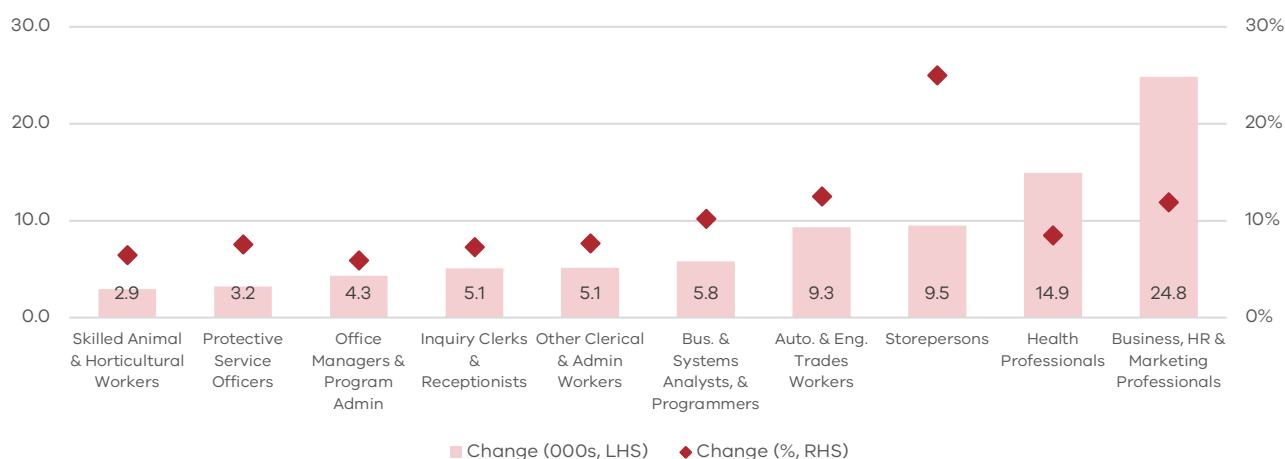

Fig. 10 Top ten occupations for job losses in Victoria (February 2020 versus May 2020)

Source: Australian Bureau of Statistics.

However, there are some occupations that have grown in size since February, such as Storepersons, who receive, handle and despatch goods in stores and warehouses, as businesses have quickly moved to online retailing and contactless pick-up services, and Health Professionals as hospitals prepared for a potential influx of COVID-19 patients.

Fig. 11 Top ten occupations for job growth in Victoria (February 2020 versus May 2020)

Source: Australian Bureau of Statistics.

The recovery paths of different occupations will vary. They will be driven by the recovery paths of different industries (as discussed in Section 3), as well as occupation specific-drivers. While the employment and training activity outlook for each of the occupations that are aligned to government objectives are described in Table 5, some of the key recovery drivers may include:

- A shift towards more Storepersons, Logistics Clerks and fewer Sales Assistants and Salespersons as online shopping becomes a norm for more households.
- Lower demand for tourism and travel (both domestic and international) dampens industry need for Gallery, Museum and Tour Guides, Tourism and Travel Advisors, and Hotel Service Managers.

- Greater resilience for occupations that are tied to broader demographic trends, such as Aged and Disabled Carers, and the existing population size, such as School Teachers.
- The ability to undertake a job flexibly or remotely may allow an occupation to recover more quickly, as the relaxation of restrictions is not a precondition for business operation (for example, a Bookkeeper working from home, versus a Waiter or Barista working in a café).

Explanatory notes:

- Australian and New Zealand Standard Classification of Occupations (ANZSCO): ANZSCO is a classification used to organise data collected about occupations. Definitions are based on the skill level and specialisation usually needed to perform the tasks of the specific occupation, or of most occupations in the group.
- VET related occupations: Occupations for which VET training supplies all or some new entrants, or VET training is undertaken to improve specific or generic skills for existing workers or new entrants in those jobs.
- State-wide priorities: Courses aligned to the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), family violence (FV) and infrastructure (Infra) workforces are annotated. As high profile government initiatives, related job openings may increase more than the base anticipated employment demand across Victoria. Course alignment to government priority areas is reviewed on an annual basis to ensure currency.
- Apprenticeship enrolment type available: Courses marked with “App” are available as apprenticeships. Training delivery aligned to these apprenticeships is encouraged, irrespective of whether anticipated requirements for general (i.e. non-apprenticeship) courses aligned to the job are stable or decreasing.

OCCUPATIONS ALIGNED TO GOVERNMENT OBJECTIVES

Table 4 presents the training demand outlook for Victoria, for occupations that are closely aligned with government priorities areas. This outlook should be used with care, given the uncertainty and evolving COVID-19 situation.

In proposing Program Delivery Plans, training providers should assess which courses on their scope, within the ANZSCO Unit Groups, will best service the occupational training needs detailed below. Courses can appear under more than one ANZSCO Unit Group.

5: Courses for community and industry needs

Table 6 includes Foundation Courses, Vocational Certificate of Applied Learning (VCAL) and Victorian Certificate of Education (VCE) courses, and other courses that do not closely align to the ANZSCO Unit Group occupations detailed in Table 4 or Table 5, but are integral to Victorian community and industry needs. Training providers should also consider these courses in proposing their Program Delivery Plans.

Although courses included in this list may, on face value, appear to be aligned to an occupation, they do not provide direct pathways for students seeking to gain employment in a specific occupation, but may support upskilling for people already employed within a particular occupation. In addition, they:

- are generally courses with minimal units
- may be introductory or preparatory in nature
- may not be related to a specific occupation.

Note: Only courses included on the Funded Course List 2021 are listed.
