

Student information and protection

This fact sheet summarises the type of information you must give students as they move from prospective students through to completing their Skills First training.

Prospective students

Victorian Skills Gateway profile

The Victorian Skills Gateway is a website that helps prospective students find VET programs.

You must register for and maintain an upto-date profile on the Victorian Skills Gateway. Follow the instructions on the website. Your profile must include information about your delivery locations, programs and contact details. Maintaining accurate and current information will help you attract new students.

Your public website information

You must maintain certain up to date information on your public website.

Fee information

- ☑ the standard tuition fee for each Skills First program you offer
- ☑ student services and amenities fees
- text that reads 'The student tuition fees as published are subject to change given individual circumstances at enrolment'.

Subcontracting arrangements

- the subcontractor's name
- ☑ the subcontractor's role in training and assessment.

Other information

- ☑ your complaints and appeals process
- ☑ a list of all the brokering services providers you use

Marketing and promotion

You must be accurate, honest, ethical and responsible when promoting training and recruiting students. You must not mislead prospective students, even unintentionally.

You must give prospective students clear information about:

- the nature and requirements of the training
- how much they will pay
- · the training hours and commitment
- the assessment and expected outcomes for the training.

You must carry out promotional and recruitment activities in accordance with the Skills First Quality Charter.

Under Australian Consumer Law, you must not engage in false or misleading practices.

Incentives to enrol are not allowed

You must not offer someone, either directly or indirectly, any incentives to enrol in Skills First training. This could be a financial incentive or other incentive. An example of a direct incentive is offering a prospective student a laptop or voucher.

As well as to prospective students, incentives must not be offered to any other person or entity, such as an employer or social organisation. For example, offering equipment to a sports club if its members enrol in training.

Published December 2023 (version 5.0)

Foundation skills

If you offer foundation skills programs, but you aren't on the approved provider list, you must make it clear to prospective students that those programs do not get a Skills First subsidy.

(i) Before enrolment

Consequences of using a Skills First entitlement

You must tell a student if they are being enrolled under the Skills First program. You must explain to them how accessing Skills First now will affect their future entitlement to government-subsidised training.

Subcontracting

If you are approved to subcontract any of your training and assessment, you must ensure that students clearly know they will enrol with you and not the subcontractor.

Pre-training review

You must follow the pre-training review process with each student to decide if training is suitable and appropriate for them. The pre-training review happens as part of enrolment or before training starts.

You must gather information from the student to decide whether the proposed training meets their objectives and could lead to a job, further study or participation for those experiencing disadvantage.

Students with disabilities

Your promotional materials should encourage students with disabilities to access Skills First training.

Under the Equal Opportunity Act 2010

(Vic), you should make reasonable adjustments to support a student with a disability. You can use the pre-training review process to identify what reasonable adjustments are needed.

Refund policy

You must give students a clear and reasonable refund policy before they enrol in training. The refund policy must meet the requirements set by your regulator.

Privacy obligations

The personal information students give you is protected by privacy laws, including the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth), Privacy and Data Protection Act 2014 (Vic) and the Australian Privacy Principles. You must include a standard privacy notice in all enrolment forms.

Before commencement

Statement of fees

You must give a student a statement of fees before their training starts – even if they are not paying the fees, such as where their employer is paying for training.

A statement of fees must include:

- the code, title and currency of the program
- a quote for the total cost of the program
- the tuition fees (allowing for any concession or fee waiver entitlement) and other fees like student services, amenities or materials fees
- an estimate of the government contribution to the cost of the program, expressed in dollars.

The statement of fees does not need to include information already given to the student in a training plan or as general consumer information.

Practical placements need a written agreement

You must have a written practical placement agreement with the employer or host organisation, in addition to the training plan. This must be signed by you, the employer or host organisation, and the student before the placement starts.

The practical placement agreement must include information about each party's rights and obligations, the skills to be developed and assessed, the location of the placement, the start and finish dates, the length of the placement, and the maximum hours per week.

After commencement

Training plan

You have up to four weeks after the start of training to develop a training plan.

You must create a training plan that tells students about the training and assessment for their program, including its intensity, duration, how they'll be taught and assessed, and by whom.

Check Schedule 1 of the VET Funding Contract for the information you must include in the training plan.

Training plan requirements for nonapprentices/trainees

You can give non-apprentice/trainee students their training plan as one document or in multiple documents. You can give the same training plan information to a cohort of students who are doing the same training in the same way, or you can customise it for an individual student. It must be kept up to date. Non-apprentice/trainee students don't need to sign their training plan. However, you must have a business process to show how you approved the training plan information and made it available to the student.

Training plan requirements for apprentices and trainees

Apprentices and trainees must have a personalised training plan that's developed with and signed by the employer, a school representative if it's a School-Based Apprenticeship/Traineeship, the student and you.

The training plan needs to reflect the workplace arrangements. It must be kept up to date. You must agree any updates to the training plan with the apprentice or trainee and their employer, and you must give them both a copy of the updated version.

Student complaints

You must have a complaint handling and appeals process for receiving and resolving student complaints.

At completion

You must comply with regulatory standards and the Australian Qualifications Framework when issuing qualifications and statements of attainment. This includes requirements about prescribed information you must record on qualifications, statements of attainment and records of results.

Further information

- Submit an enquiry via SVTS
- Fact sheet: Quality in online delivery

© Copyright State of Victoria, Department of Jobs, Skills, Industry and Regions 2023 Except for any logos, emblems, trademarks, artwork and photography this document is made available under the terms of the

Except for any logos, emblems, trademarks, artwork and photography this document is made available under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 Australia licence.

Published December 2023 (version 5.0)

